To Whom It May Concern,

My name is Andrea Balzano, and I work full-time for the IU Foundation as the Race Director of Indiana University's Little 500 bicycle race held every April in Bloomington, Indiana. The Little 500 was the brainchild of Howdy Wilcox, a former IU Foundation President, who modeled the event after the Indianapolis 500 back in 1951. The event is a relay-style bicycle race that is contested over 200 laps on a quarter-mile cinder track, and was immortalized in the 1979 Academy Award-winning film Breaking Away.

Every fall, the IU Student Foundation holds a Fall Cycling Series in an effort to give riders an additional forum to compete outside of the race itself, garner enthusiasm from the IU student body, and raise funds for student scholarships. Our series this year includes an Individual Time Trial, Cyclocross, and Street Sprints. We are currently in the process of petitioning the City of Bloomington to allow us to hold our Street Sprints event on Kirkwood Avenue on Saturday, October 5th from 12:00-6:00 p.m.

Think of Street Sprints as drag racing on a Little 500 bike. Competition starts in the qualifying round. Riders will be slotted into preliminary heats of six to eight riders and timed as they sprint 200 meters down Kirkwood Avenue. The top 16 men and top 16 women will advance to the championship round. Based on their qualifying time, riders will be slotted into the championship bracket and proceed to race one-on-one as they advance through the bracket to the finals.

We are personally asking all of the businesses on Kirkwood Avenue to support the IU Student Foundation in its effort to hold the event on Kirkwood from Lincoln to Indiana. We expect 200 students to participate in the event. Conservatively, if each rider has three friends or family members come watch the event in addition to interest we peak from general passersby, we estimate a crowd of between 1,000 and 2,000 people in attendance that afternoon. With the course stretching from Lincoln to Indiana, your business would be in a prime position to capture the attention of event goers, thereby leading to an increase in revenue the day of the race.

Please help us by taking a minute to check "Yes" or "No" below, so that we can give the City of Bloomington an accurate portrayal of the Kirkwood business pulse on this matter. If you have comments or concerns about this event, please feel free to attend the Public Works meeting on Tuesday, September 18th in the City Council Chambers at 5:30 pm to voice your opinions.

Best regards,

Andrea L. Balzano
